usdhs nih alternative toxicological methods i definitely faovr alternative methods which do not involve torture and abuse of any animal to evaluate human responses to testing.

abusing cats, dogs, primates, guinea pigs, innocent rabbits, etc is absolutely disgusting, comes from 1500A.D. and is not relevant to any effects on humans.

who is too lazy to stop this abuse of animals? who is profiteering from their continued torture?

comment on page 2 of 3 - in first paragraph change the word "may" to "must" reduce the number of animals abused and tortured since that is what their use in these horrid tests is.

do not let any animal profiteers sit on this commitee and sink its productive reformulation of these tests. animal profiteers are profiting on the torture and abuse of animals and their greed should not let them be on this committee. greed for money makes people lie and connive.

we must update to more accurate methods which are humane.
